Austerity Program Toughest

London (AP)—The Labor government hit Britons Friday with a tougher-than-war-time regime that would freeze wages, salaries, prices and dividends for at least six months, probably a year. The proposed austerity would be enforced by law.

The reaction in most quarters was one of shock, anger or doubt. The program is stiffer than outlined by Prime Minister Harold Wilson July 20 in announcing an austerity program to save the pound sterling.

Drastic
The government's solution to the current economic crisis was contained in a white paper issued by Deputy Prime Minister George Brown while Wilson was in a one-day visit to Washington, telling President Johnson about the new measures. The plan is more drastic than any imposed in wartime.

The immediate effect was to postpone wage increases for six million workers already negotiating and in the pipeline for distribution in the autumn. This was unexpected. Affected are railway, electrical, gas and building trade workers and doctors.

Brown said nothing less than the across-the-board freeze would suffice in the present situation where the pound is under pressure, the stock market depressed and world confidence in Britain's economy shaken.

Unlabeled Blunt
Even Labor's own supporters were taken aback. Frank Chapple, assistant general secretary of the Electrical Trades Union, said bluntly, "If the freeze is applied it is likely to bring about a chaotic situation in industry."

Chapple said his union agreed to a three-month standstill on a new agreement but after September there will be no agreement.

"We have been able to keep our members in line up to now but with no agreement they might all do as they wish."

Sir Harry Douglass, chairman of the economic committee of the giant Trade Union Congress, said the plan raised grave doubt whether the freeze was practical at all. The full extent of the plan prompted the TUC to reconsider its position, he indicated.

"A first look at the government's white paper gives us some distasteful food for thought," said a spokesman for the Confederation of British Industry, a management organization.

"Seems Wrong Way"
"We are being asked to subscribe to a garbled mixture of voluntary effort and statutory interference. This does not seem the way to enlist the wholehearted cooperation of the people to extricate us from our national plight."

Royal Foot Nailed
Nice, France (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan, vacationing on the French Riviera, cut his foot on a rusty nail. The king gave up his plans to water ski.

COOLING OFF BY THE BUCKETFUL

Cooling off by the bucketful on a hot day in Racine, Wis., were Patrick Geraghty, 10, and his 7-year-old sister, Colleen. In the process they are getting everything but their enthusiasm dampened. They are the offspring of Mr. and Mrs. John Geraghty.

State Undecided On Whether To Seek Fugate Rehearing

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer said Friday that no decision has been made as to whether the State of Nebraska will seek a rehearing before the Supreme Court on Caril Ann Fugate's motion seeking relief under Nebraska's post-conviction law.

The Supreme Court ruled Friday that Miss Fugate be granted a new hearing in Lancaster District Court to determine whether the statements used against her in her first-degree murder trial were given by her voluntarily.

The high court stated in its

Caril Fugate

opinion that there is nothing in the record to show that the statements were not made voluntarily, but that "this does not prevent the defendant from obtaining a review of the voluntariness of the statements through post-conviction procedure."

Both the state and the defendants have 20 days in which to file for a rehearing before the Supreme Court. If such hearing is denied, the Lancaster District Court will hold a hearing to determine the voluntariness of the statements.

The high court's ruling specified that the new hearing must be based upon "other evidence than that which appears in the record" of the 1958 trial.

If the district court finds that the statements were not voluntary, a new district court trial would probably be ordered.

However, if the finding should be that the statements were given voluntarily, the case would be closed at the district court level with only the avenues of appeal remaining.

... MACHINISTS VOTE SUNDAY

Washington (AP)—President Johnson, taking personal charge of negotiations, announced Friday night terms had been agreed on for settling the 24-day-old strike of five major airlines.

He said details of the agreement will be announced after the 35,000 striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists vote on them Sunday.

The five airlines—Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United—announced that initial flights will be resumed within four hours following contract ratification by the machinists.

A spokesman said it will take some 24 to 72 hours before full schedules are in operation in 231 U.S. and overseas cities.

Within Hours
National Airlines will resume schedules to a few of its major cities within hours of the ratification and to others on its system within the first day. Trans World, Northwest and United plan to begin operating their transcontinental flights within four hours after ratification.

Eastern announced that it would be back to nearly normal service in 12 hours and complete schedules in 24 hours. The Eastern shuttle between New York and Washington and Boston will resume operation within hours after the ratification.

A spokesman for United said full operations would be resumed within 36 hours after ratification.

After Johnson's announcement, the negotiators went back to work to hash out details of the agreement.

Ex-Con Held After Fruitless Robbery Try

Lincoln police are holding an ex-convict from New York and a female companion in connection with an attempted robbery of the Skyline Cafe at about 9 p.m. Friday.

Waitress Fern Bomberger of Rt. 1, Adams, said she was working the cash register when a young man wearing sunglasses pulled a gun on her and demanded that she give him the money in the register.

She refused, and the man and a female companion fled. Witnesses said that the two had been sitting at the counter in the cafe before the attempted hold-up.

Two Cass County deputies, hearing the broadcast description of the would-be robber, reported that a car driven by a man answering the description of the suspect, had been located in Greenwood.

A stake-out near the car netted the man at about 11 p.m. Police Department officials said that the man admitted that he was a former convict and had stolen the car a week ago in Genoa, N.Y.

House theater to make the dramatic announcement before television cameras.

The President spoke only briefly, saying:

"The agreement reached a few moments ago between the five airlines and the International Association of Machinists is essentially within the general framework of the presidential emergency board recommendations."

"The fact that productivity has advanced so rapidly in the airline industry means, according to all participants in the settlement, that this settlement will not be inflationary."

"Unit labor costs in air transportation will continue to decline, thus assuring that this settlement will not contribute to any increase in prices."

The agreement came even faster than was predicted by the man who headed the emergency board that came up with the solution, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. He had said it would come by Monday.

Announcement of the agreement came after the President spent well into early Friday morning talking to concerned parties and studying the problem. White House sources said Johnson retired after 2:30 a.m. and arose before 8 a.m. Friday morning.

These were the developments earlier Friday:

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson had told him he felt the air and union representatives could "negotiate until doomsday and not make any more progress than they are now likely to make in one day."

Differences between labor and management, Moyers said, had been narrowed down to something less than $25 million for a contract that would extend over three years.

LBJ Straight Talk
Eleven men from each side met with Johnson for 27 minutes in the White House Cabinet room. Johnson gave them coffee and some straight talk, then asked them to go across the street to the executive office building and try to make some headway.

With Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Asst. Secretary James J. Reynolds sort of refereeing, they met in a session that kept on going without a break for lunch.

Congress had been moving in the direction of dumping the whole airline row onto Johnson's doorstep by considering legislation authorizing him to halt the strike at a time of his own choosing.

But Johnson beat them to the draw.

5 Whites Accused In Baltimore Rallies

By The Associated Press

Five white men were charged Friday in indictments returned by a Baltimore, Md., grand jury with conspiring to riot, rioting and related charges growing out of white supremacist rallies.

Shortly afterwards, a Baltimore Circuit Court judge enjoined the National States Rights Party from holding any further rallies or demonstrations in public places.

The indicted men said they would abide by the injunction until Monday.

"We haven't got a damn choice. We have been ordered," said Richard B. Norton, Maryland coordinator for the party.

State Atty. Charles E. Moylan Jr. had asked the indictments by the grand jury, which met in special session, and Maryland Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan sought the injunction in moves intended to avert more rallies which have inflamed racial feelings in the city.

Whites Sought Trouble
The supremacist group had staged three rallies this week, the last ending with roving white gangs looking for trouble in Negro neighborhoods, and had planned another rally Friday night.

Charged in the grand jury's indictments are Richard B. Norton of Baltimore, Joseph Carroll of suburban Baltimore, and Charles C. Lynch of San Bernardino, Calif.—men identified as party rally speakers—and Edwin F. Hendle and Paul W. Cordle, whose parts in the incidents were not disclosed.

Sporadic trouble broke out Thursday night after segregationist speakers at the party rally in Patterson Park stirred a crowd of 1,000 mostly teen-agers with criticisms of the U.S. Supreme Court and Baltimore Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin.

Went Roaming
The crowd, chanting "we hate niggers," broke into smaller groups after the rally and roamed through Negro neighborhoods. One young Negro was beaten by a gang of youths. Seven white persons were charged with disorderly conduct and three Negroes with carrying weapons.

Police patrolled the troubled areas into the morning hours after gaining control of the situation Thursday night.

Job Corps Staff Gets Go-Ahead On Housing

Lincoln Job Corps staff members can begin moving into housing units at the Lincoln Air Force Base sometime next week under an agreement reached Friday between the Job Corps contractor and the Air Force.

Under the agreement, the contractor—Management Systems Co., a subsidiary of Northern Natural Gas Co.—will manage the houses on an interim basis until a permanent agency takes over the entire LAFB housing program.

"We are grateful that arrangements could be worked out for our staff to occupy certain units adjacent to the Lincoln Job Corps center," Director J. O. Grantham said.

"This relieves the pressure of the past few weeks when housing became critical due to the rapid staff buildup."

Under the agreement, an initial increment of 25 houses will be made available for Job Corps staff members.

The agreement provides additional increments of not less than 10 units will be made available as the need arises.

Contractor staff occupancy is expected to approach 300 units by next spring, according to an Air Force announcement.

"We settled for 25 units now because under the agreement we must guarantee full and continued occupancy and have to pay for it," Grantham noted.

Firm Basis
"That puts it on an absolute firm basis so we do not intend to acquire more units until we have the rentals to move in."

Management Systems will manage the housing units on a non-profit basis, Grantham said.

Fair rental rates on the units, including costs for utilities, operation and maintenance, were "worked out" by the government last year, he noted.

That rate structure will be utilized by Management Systems during its interim management, Grantham said.

Nisley Hopes For Labor Stand On Tax System

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley said Friday he hopes tax briefing sessions which feature his organization's sixth annual leadership institute will produce labor recommendations for a state tax system.

The institute opened in Lincoln Friday, and will continue through Sunday. "I am hopeful that this seminar will produce a recommendation to the state convention on taxes," Nisley said.

Convenes Sept. 26

The AFL-CIO convenes in Fremont Sept. 26. It will probably adopt a policy position on a proposed state tax system, Nisley said.

The leadership institute in Lincoln has attracted most union officers and labor representatives in positions of influence within their local units, Nisley noted.

"We want to better understand the state's tax base and what the problems are," the Omaha pointed out. "We hope this will motivate broad discussion on taxes."

Opening day sessions concentrated on community relations programs for labor unions and on a discussion of the national economic outlook, with particular emphasis on economic growth in Nebraska.

Taxes grabbed the spotlight Friday night with an address by State Tax Commissioner George Dworak.

Dworak gave a short talk and then answered questions from the floor of the Nebraska Center auditorium.

When asked why he would not endorse any specific state tax plan he replied, "I am an administrator."

Dworak said administrative costs for the proposed new income tax program will run about 1 1/2 to 2%. The costs will be higher when the system is new and will decline with age.

He said Nebraska needs a tax system with rates proportionate to the individual's means.

Speaking of tax exemptions he said, "Personally, I don't think anybody should be exempt." Dworak said he doesn't care what religion or organization a person belongs to. "If you're going to build, ... and I'm going to build, we both ought to be taxed."

Tax Discussions

Saturday's program will feature tax discussions by Dr. E. B. Schmidt, University of Nebraska professor of economics, and State Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of the 1965 state income tax law.

Li. Gov. Phillip Sorenson will address the banquet meeting, substituting for Matthew DeMore, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

Among material distributed to participants Friday were the voting records of members of Nebraska's congressional delegation on issues of particular interest to organized labor.

Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska were recorded as voting against the AFL-CIO's position on each of 11 Senate votes on anti-poverty programs, aid to education, voting rights, housing and urban development, medicare, repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and legislative reapportionment.

'Right' 9 Times
In the House, Rep. Clair Callan was recorded as voting with the AFL-CIO position on nine of 10 key votes on rules changes, aid to Appalachia, aid to education, medicare, repeal of Section 14(b), foreign aid, housing, voting rights, rent supplements and the minimum wage.

Rep. Glenn Cunningham was recorded as voting against the labor position on nine of the 10 votes. He was reported as absent on one roll call.

Rep. Dave Martin was recorded as voting against the AFL-CIO position on all 10 votes.

Caril Fugate Granted Hearing On Statements

By Associated Press

The Supreme Court held Friday that Caril Ann Fugate, convicted companion of mass killer Charles Starkweather, is entitled to a hearing on the question of whether statements made by her and used against her during her murder trial were voluntarily made.

The Court did not grant a new trial, but opened the door to a possible new trial by directing, in effect, a district court hearing on such a motion.

In another celebrated Nebraska murder case, the Supreme Court held Friday that former Lincoln City Forester Darrel F. Parker is not entitled to a new trial. The judgment affirmed that of the Lancaster District Court.

Both murder defendants have made repeated bids for reviews or new trials.

The 22-year-old Miss Fugate is serving a life term at the Nebraska Women's Reformatory in York. She was convicted in 1958 of first degree murder for aiding and abetting Starkweather in one of a string of 11 killings attributed to him. Starkweather since has been executed.

The Supreme Court Friday said there is nothing in the record to indicate that statements which Miss Fugate, then 14 years old, gave authorities prior to trial and which were used against her in her trial were not voluntarily made.

But the Court said the question of voluntariness was not raised in a previous appeal to the State Supreme Court.

"Under these circumstances, we do not believe that the defendant should be deprived of a post conviction review at this time upon the ground that the matter has been fully litigated," the Supreme Court said.

Escobedo Ruling Evoked

Attorneys for both Parker and Miss Fugate sought relief under Nebraska's Post Conviction Law, relying on recent U.S. Supreme Court rulings, notably the Escobedo ruling, in efforts to win new trials.

The Escobedo Doctrine holds that an accused person is entitled to the help of an attorney when a case moves from the investigation to the accusation stage.

The U.S. Supreme Court has held that the doctrine does not apply to cases which went to trial before June 22, 1964, but that this does not prevent a review by post conviction procedure of whether statements taken from the defendant were made voluntarily.

Friday's Supreme Court ruling in the Fugate case has the effect of sending the case back to the Lancaster District Court for an evidentiary hearing on Miss Fugate's motion for a new trial, with voluntariness of her statements as the sole issue.

Parker, now 34, was convicted of first degree murder in the 1955 strangulation slaying of his wife, Nancy. Her body was found in the cottage the couple occupied in Lincoln's Antelope Park.

Parker was from Henderson, Iowa, and his wife was from Des Moines. They met while attending Iowa State College in Ames.

Parker is serving his life term at the Nebraska Penitentiary.

The Supreme Court said the issues raised by Parker's attorneys in the latest bid for new trial have previously been reviewed.

But, said the Court, "Out of abundant caution we have carefully reviewed the evidence in this extended record now before us . . .

"We find no evidence of a real miscarriage of justice. We think the same issues should not now be relitigated."

In another case, the High Court ruled that the Post Conviction Act may be used to attack the validity of a final conviction even though the petitioner has not yet begun to serve the sentence imposed.

County Decision Reversed

The Court reversed a Dodge County District Court decision and ordered that the lower court hold further proceedings on penitentiary inmate Robert W. Losieau's petition to vacate a 1962 Dodge County breaking and entering and habitual criminal conviction.

Losieau currently is serving a 20-year term on a 1962 Douglas County burglary and habitual criminal conviction. He is not scheduled to begin serving the 20-year Dodge County term until March of next year.

The inmate filed a post conviction petition in the Dodge District Court last year seeking review of his 1962 conviction but the court dismissed the petition on the grounds Losieau was not "a prisoner in custody under sentence" of the Dodge District Court.

The Supreme Court said the state law is extremely broad and designed to provide "swift, simple and easily invoked" procedures for challenging convictions. The Court said the act does not contain the federal habeas corpus limitations that permits only the challenging of sentences being served.

In a Douglas County post conviction appeal, the High Court once again affirmed the 1960 first degree murder conviction of penitentiary inmate Jerry Erving of Omaha, who is serving a life term.

Erving alleged that a number of his constitutional rights were violated before and during his trial, including a contention that he was prejudiced because of "undue publicity in the various news media."

The High Court rejected Erving's arguments and ruled that the Douglas District Court was correct in refusing to grant the inmate a hearing under the Post Conviction Act. The tribunal also upheld his conviction in 1962.

Court OK's Cass Rulings

The Nebraska Supreme Court affirmed Friday two Cass County District Court decisions in lawsuits arising from a 1962 traffic accident at the intersection of two county roads east of Greenwood.

The tribunal held that the lower court was correct in dismissing a suit against the County of Cass and held that the jury acted properly by returning a verdict in favor of another defendant.

Earl S. McKinney filed the actions against the county and Wayne Howard for injuries suffered in the two-car collision. McKinney was a passenger in a car which collided with one driven by Howard.

The Supreme Court said that although signs at the intersection had been removed about a week before the accident and no temporary signs had been substituted "the traveled surface of both intersecting county roads was free of any defects" and the county was not negligent.

The Court also said Howard was not negligent even though he was familiar with the intersection and knew that the signs had been removed.

In another case the Supreme Court reversed a Lincoln Municipal Court judgment and dismissed a suit for damages to a farm tractor.

Roy A. Sankey had been awarded $610 in the Municipal Court in a suit against his tenant, Walter Williamson, who was accused in the Sankey petition of mistreating the tractor.

The Court said Sankey failed to provide any competent evidence to support the claims of negligence.

THOUGHTFUL WILSON . . . lights pipe as he listens to Johnson.

Wilson To Use World War II Muscle In Economic Crisis

Washington (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson told President Johnson Friday that he intends to resolve Britain's economic crisis with the same determination that enabled his country to hold off Nazi Germany in the 1940s.

Wilson's strong pledge to pull Britain out of the crisis that is seeling his government propose wage and price controls was one of the highlights of a one-day visit to Washington. General world problems, including the Viet Nam war, also were discussed.

The prime minister was at the White House approximately four hours. The morning session was delayed 15 minutes while Washington police checked out a report that a man had been seen carrying what looked like a rifle near Blair House, where Wilson stayed.

Trading Views

At the end of the day's conferences, White House and British spokesmen said no major decisions or policy changes had been agreed upon in talks. Wilson's spokesman, Trevor Lloyd Hughes, said the purpose of the meeting—the fourth between the two leaders—was to exchange views, not arrive at decisions.

Concerning Viet Nam, Wilson briefed Johnson on his recent visit to Moscow. Nothing resulted from that trip which would affect the future course of the war, spokesmen said.

Johnson, in his greetings and in a luncheon toast, warmly praised both Wilson and Britain, thus countering speculation that the prime minister would get a cool welcome because of his public opposition to the U.S. raids on oil depots near Hanoi and Haiphong.

Comparison To War

The President told Wilson in his toast: "In World War II, Mr. Prime Minister, England saved herself by fortitude, and the world by example. You personally are asking the British people today the same fortitude—the same resolve—that turned the tide in those days."

He then added that Britain "is blessed with a leader whose own enterprise and courage will show the way."

A British spokesman said after the morning session that Wilson made clear that Britain "is determined to put her economy straight."

Stronger Words

Wilson made the point in even stronger language at the luncheon.

"We have taken steps which have not been taken by any other democratic government in the world," he said, referring to the proposed statutory wage and price controls.

"Of course there are doubts about us," he said. "There were doubts about us in 1940 (which) proved to be the doubts of small-minded men."

He further declared that "so far as the future is concerned, we believe if Britain threw in the sponge now, the effects would not be confined to Britain."

Blair House, on Pennsylvania Avenue, was the 1950 scene of an assassination attempt on President Harry S. Truman by Puerto Rican nationalists. One of the would-be assassins was killed, as was a Secret Service agent, in a gun battle.

Wilson flew to Washington Thursday for his one-day session with the President.

U.S. officials regarded it as an important one because of the economic crisis facing America's closest ally.

Nigeria 'Controls' Military Uprising

Lagos, Nigeria (U) — An army uprising was reported in three Nigerian provinces Friday against the military government of Maj. Gen. Johnson Aguiyi-Ironsi. By evening the government reported the situation was under its control.

(In London, the Commonwealth relations office said it had unofficial reports of an attempt to assassinate Aguiyi-Ironsi in Ibadan, where he had gone to lead a national unity conference of tribal rulers. The reports said Aguiyi-Ironsi had been held by rebel elements for a time and the revolt had been ended.)

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed and military tribunals were set up, the government said.

The capital, Lagos, was a calm through the day, but the airport has been unreachable since Friday morning and planes were not permitted to land or take off.

In London, reports said Aguiyi-Ironsi's six-month-old regime detected a plot against it and fighting was touched off at Abeokuta, 50 miles northwest of Lagos, when loyal troops moved against mutineers.

First reports from London said loyal troops also ringed Aguiyi-Ironsi's headquarters in Lagos and other government buildings but were later replaced by police.

The London reports indicated the revolt was spurred by old tribal differences.

Muslims in northern Nigeria, who form a majority of the population, have been suspicious of the southern Ibo since the ruling military junta overthrew the northern-dominated federation six months ago.

Young officers in the north have been reported planning a new rebellion unless Aguiyi-Ironsi's regime succeeded in establishing "a new Nigeria." The northerners belong to a different tribe than Aguiyi-Ironsi, who is an Ibo.

DEBRIS SEEN IN STILWELL SEARCH AREA

San Francisco (UPI) — A Coast Guard plane Friday night spotted debris in the area of the Pacific where a DC-3 carrying Brig. Gen. Joseph Stilwell disappeared Sunday on a San Francisco-Honolulu flight.

The Coast Guard said it could not describe the debris. It was sighted 400 miles southwest of here.

The discovery of the debris came only four hours before the formal search was scheduled to end.

Stilwell, 54, son of World War II Gen. "Vinegar" Joe Stilwell, was a hero of three wars and commandant of the U.S. Special Warfare (Green Beret), Center at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

U.S. Stages Heaviest Foray Against North

Saigon (U) — Bomb damage heaviest U.S. foray of the war against North Viet Nam catalogued such things as 13 petroleum dumps blazing, a missile site four miles from Haiphong hit, 62 barges destroyed or damaged.

U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots took to the air again to press attacks that Pacific Command officials in Honolulu said are slowly crippling the communist war effort and crimping supplies of North Vietnamese troops infiltrating the south.

The fresh raids followed up the record pounding of North Vietnamese targets by more than 375 sorties Thursday. The previous record for one day above the 17th Parallel was 315 combat strikes by individual planes, set July 15.

The United States lost two more planes to communist ground fire, one in the north and one in the south.

94 Reds Killed

While air action held the spotlight, spokesmen announced allied troop operations that accounted for 94 enemy dead.

Several thousand men from the 1st Brigade of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division and South Korea's 2nd Marine Brigade have killed 42 communists and captured two in Operation John Paul Jones on the coast below Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Their own losses in the operation, launched June 21, are light.

—Troops of the U.S. 24th Infantry Division based in the central highlands near Pleiku fought three skirmishes overnight with probing patrols of North Vietnamese regulars and killed 13. None of the Americans was hit.

—South Vietnamese troops sweeping across coastal flatlands 360 miles northeast of Saigon killed 37 communists while suffering light losses.

From Sources

The record sorties over the north Thursday were disclosed by qualified sources. Officially, briefing officers are not so specific. They usually specify a certain number of missions, a vague term intended to keep exact information from the Hanoi regime.

Two factors contributed to the record.

Marine jets, ordinarily confined to operations in the south, are now attacking targets above the border. And three 7th Fleet carriers—the Ranger, Oriskany and Constellation—were on duty offshore instead of the usual two. This happens about once a month, when two carriers are exchanging stations.

U2 Wreckage Spotted In Remote Bolivia Hills

Oruro, Bolivia (U) — The American U2 plane lost over South America with its pilot presumably unconscious was reported found Friday in burned and scattered pieces on the hills of west central Bolivia.

It apparently had crashed Thursday afternoon from great altitude, shattering the body of the pilot and strewn wreckage over a wide area.

American and Bolivian officials said identification of the pilot, Capt. Robert D. Hickman, 32, of Alexandria, La., was found in the wreckage area.

Remote Area

The crash site is near the town of Llanquerra, a remote area with few access roads. The pilot identity card was brought to Oruro by farmers who trudged across the hills overnight with first reports of the crash.

In reporting Hickman missing, the Defense Department in Washington said he was on a routine flight from Barksdale Air Force Base at Shreveport, La., and was last reported off Panama.

Officials had estimated the U2, which operates above 70,000 feet, could have glided for another 200 miles after running out of fuel somewhere along the Peruvian-Chilean border.

The missing U2 had been the object of a wide search by the U.S. Air Force covering six South American countries.

Football Star

Hickman was a star football player in the early 1950s. As an elusive halfback, Hickman won an athletic scholarship to the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette. In 1955, he quit college to enter the Air Force cadet training program.

The following year he was commissioned and married the former Miss Pauline Ann Cicardo, also of Alexandria.

Capt. Hickman graduated from Omaha University in June 1965 under the bootstrap program. The captain and his wife were known in Omaha as golf enthusiasts. They have two children.

NASON ON EDUCATION: Higher Education Planning Requires Free, Open Talk

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason:

Our daughter will be a sophomore in high school this fall. Although she has been making high grades in the subject she now wishes to discontinue French and take up bookkeeping and typing.

Will this have any effect on her acceptance in college?

Mrs. A.A., Glassboro, N.J.

Answer:

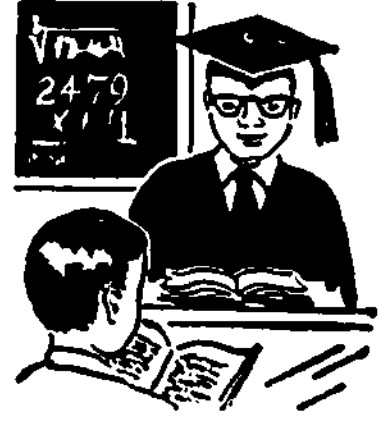

Your daughter's desire to change from a college preparatory course probably indicates a change in her goal. Perhaps she has given up the idea of college since most colleges do require a foreign language for entrance.

It is not a matter of whether a college career is better than a business career or vice versa, it is a question of which would be better for your daughter.

These problems are not easily solved. There usually are many complex and interrelated causes back of a student's decision to make such a major change. While her goals should be her own, she needs the interest and advice of adults, especially her parents, in such an important decision. I suggest that you encourage a free and open discussion of her future plans.

Dear Dr. Nason:

My problem concerns my daughter, aged 6 1/2, who has just completed first grade. Up to the introduction of the New Math she did excellent work in all subjects.

But in New Math the children were taught first to use "the counting man," a figure on whose fingers they counted. Then they were given counting beads to work with. The teacher now expects them to do away with these items and work mentally. Well, my daughter has become absolutely frustrated.

She is so used to relying on some object that she counts

on her fingers; but is quite unhappy about it.

Since she has done so well up to the present time I hate to have her fall behind now. Her teacher said she will overcome it and yet when she does her homework she gets quite upset.

Do you advise drilling or perhaps flash cards or what? I would truly appreciate any help you can give me before she and I both get too discouraged!

Mrs. S. E., Teaneck, N.J.

Answer:

The transition is not automatic. I suggest drill during the summer for your daughter. If flash cards are used, sort out and use only the ones covering the number facts taught in the first grade and in the beginning of the second. Keep on drilling until your daughter's responses are automatic and instantaneous.

The Tokyo Raiders

By MARQUIS CHILDS

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is on vacation. Today's column is by Bob Conzidine, well known feature writer.)

NEW YORK—Nearly a quarter of a century ago, another group of American fliers faced trial and possible execution at the hands of an enemy who was contemptuous of the Geneva Convention. Eight of Jimmy Doolittle's Tokyo raiders became prisoners of the Japanese after their B-25s ran out of fuel and crashed upon the occupied coastline of China, April 18, 1942.

Of the 16 bombers launched off the deck of the Carrier Hornet, America's first counterpunch after the bombing mission, its five-man crew was interned by the Russians for most of the remainder of World War II. Unlike North Viet Nam authorities, who have paraded captured American airmen through the howling streets of Hanoi, the Japanese were ominously silent about the Doolittle fliers they held. It was not until the middle of August, 1942, that the U.S. was able to confirm, through the neutral Swiss, that eight Americans had been held prisoner at Bridge House, the police headquarters of Shanghai. The only name the Swiss consulate general in Shanghai could learn was that of "Farrow." That would be Lt. William G. Farrow, 24, of Darlington, S.C. The agonizing details of what followed are best presented by Col. Carroll V. Glines, USAF, in his "Doolittle's Tokyo Raiders."

The Silent Japs

The light bombers were called, was flown to Vladivostok after the bombing mission. Its five-man crew was interned by the Russians for most of the remainder of World War II. Unlike North Viet Nam authorities, who have paraded captured American airmen through the howling streets of Hanoi, the Japanese were ominously silent about the Doolittle fliers they held. It was not until the middle of August, 1942, that the U.S. was able to confirm, through the neutral Swiss, that eight Americans had been held prisoner at Bridge House, the police headquarters of Shanghai. The only name the Swiss consulate general in Shanghai could learn was that of "Farrow." That would be Lt. William G. Farrow, 24, of Darlington, S.C. The agonizing details of what followed are best presented by Col. Carroll V. Glines, USAF, in his "Doolittle's Tokyo Raiders."

On Oct. 19, 1942, the Japanese announced they had tried the members of two captured Doolittle crews and sentenced all to death. However, the communique added, the sentence had been reduced to life imprisonment "for the larger number of them," but that the death sentence had already been carried out for others.

No names and no other facts were given. Secretary of State Cordell Hull immediately asked the Swiss minister to Washington to contact Tokyo for full details. The following Feb. 17, the Japanese replied that they intended to put all American POW's on trial, and that a still unspecified number of Doolittle fliers had already been put to death.

When U.S. efforts for more information failed, President Roosevelt told the world on April 8, 1943, "I am deeply stirred and horrified by the execution of American aviators by the Japanese government." He further announced that in a message sent to the Japanese via the Swiss, the U.S. had threatened to "retaliate on Japanese prisoners in our hands."

Lt. Farrow, Lt. Dean Hallmark, Houston, Texas, and Sgt. Harold Spiaz, Lebo, Kansas, died before a Japanese firing squad at Public Cemetery No. 1, Shanghai, Oct. 15, 1942. Lt. Robert J. Meder, Cleveland, died of beriberi, dysentery and starvation Dec. 1, 1943. The four others somehow survived atrocious conditions and torture. In sparing the lives of those survivors, the Japanese officer in charge observed, "Special mention must be made of the emperor's leniency."

On Aug. 9, 1945, a delirious American flier who was near death from starvation in a Peking prison thought he heard an inner voice telling him, "Start praying." Sgt. Jacob De Shazer was one of the four survivors, but could not last much longer.

De Shazer was puzzled by the command to pray. He asked, "What shall I pray about?" The "voice," he later recalled, instructed him to pray for peace and pray without ceasing. "I prayed that God would put a great desire in the hearts of the Japanese leaders for peace. . . I prayed that God would not allow the Japanese people to fall into persecution by the victorious armies. At two o'clock in the afternoon, the Holy Spirit told me, 'You don't need to pray any more. The victory is won.' He had no way of knowing, of course, that the second atomic bomb had fallen on Nagasaki and that Japanese resistance had come to a standstill.

The manhunt for Japanese responsible for the deaths and mistreatment of the airmen, in cynical disregard of the Geneva Convention, got under way immediately after the signing of surrender papers on the U.S.S. Missouri.

By February, 1946, U.S. investigators were prepared to place on trial Lt. Gen. Shigeru Sawada, who had been commanding general of the Japanese Imperial 13th Expeditionary Army in China; Capt. Ryuhel Okada, a member of the "court" that tried the fliers; Lt. Yusei Wako, prosecutor; and Capt. Sotajiro Tatsuta, warden and executioner. Others involved had died. Gen. Shunroku Hata, Sawada's superior, and Lt. Gen. Sadamu Shimomura, who signed the execution order, were not available for trial because they were about to be tried for other war crimes. The jury was out for two days, found that the accused acted on orders from higher authority, "exercised no initiative to any marked degree." Sawada Okada and Tatsuta were given five-year terms at hard labor, Wako drew a nine-year term. All four could have been sentenced to death.

Toward The Hostile Side

It is significant that while the U.S. Senate was shoving $409 million from the administration's foreign aid request, the House was lading out $1 billion more than asked for more weapons.

The two items are being handled in the same measure.

The Senate finally approved a foreign aid appropriation of $2.6 billion. In the bill also was a pointed criticism of West Germany for its proposal to build a steel plant in Red China.

Obviously the Congress is feeling more belligerent than peace loving. The Defense Department which spends more than half the U.S. budget did not ask for the extra billion. It only asked for all the money it feels it can spend.

There is evidence that the U.S. is making more commitments abroad than it can really afford and foreign economic aid is one place where savings can be made. But it is not an exercise in economy to trim $409 million from the economic aid budget and then overgive a billion to the Defense Department.

Whatever the official explanations may be, one thing is indisputable in this action. The U.S. is inclining a more hostile eye toward the rest of world, and is placing more reliance on arms than on peaceful overtures. We are moving at considerable distance from post World War II policies which were most greatly aimed toward peaceful solutions.

A Matter Of Attitude

Anxious leaders of southeast Nebraska are hiring a West Coast group of specialists to study the area in the hope of finding some formula that will restore this once garden spot of Nebraska to its former prosperity.

Lincoln interests are pitching in to help raise the money, for although Lincoln continues to be a growth area and therefore an exception, it has a strong sentimental and economic connection with southeast Nebraska.

To many the news that southeast Nebraska is in trouble will come as a surprise. For many years it was considered the best agricultural area, its towns happy, its farmers prosperous. It had good manufacturing and seemed to have the ideal balance. It is a very old part of Nebraska, many of its towns existing long before statehood. It was among the first to get the benefit of the Homestead Act and the population that went with it. It was among the first to experience the gains when new railroads built in. It had fine deep topsoil, abundant rainfall and a better agricultural climate than other Nebraska regions.

But decay was subtle. Lack of soil conservation allowed much of the top soil to wash away. The rivers did and still do run riot with destructive floods in the spring. The main line of the Burlington from Kansas City to Denver, which supported many towns, languished and the towns shrank.

But worst of all was a fixed attitude that nothing was ever wrong that a "good rain won't cure." It was an area that did not want to be concerned about the future and now it has a serious problem. And it has to hire outsiders to come in with proposals to reverse the trends. That itself is a bad sign. Its farms are not as fertile as formerly and many of the farmers have moved away. Fortunately the problem is not yet fatal, but great changes in habitual thinking will have to be made.

Editorial Of The Day

New Way In New Guinea

From The Des Moines Register
The 2,000 villagers on New Hanover Island in Australian New Guinea who wanted to "buy" President Johnson two years ago are somewhat discouraged, but they still have not changed their minds.

They didn't get the message straight when their Australian officials told them there was going to be an election. Instead of picking one of their own to represent them in the new local government council and the territory-wide assembly, they picked President Johnson to be their leader, teach them how to build factories, bring them boats, bicycles, refrigerators, automobiles and other fine things the Americans seemed to have in such abundance.

Told that President Johnson was not available, they raised money to "buy" him—$2,500 in all. The authorities took the money and returned it to the individual donors—and the new council began collecting a tax of $5.50 per man and $1 per woman per year. The Johnson cultists don't like it, and their neighborhood remains a backward part of this stone-age territory emerging in modernity.

One common variant is the "Cargo Cult" in which a local prophet tells his neighbors that if they will give up their old gods and follow him, a great ship with a cargo of fine modern things will come for them.

USIA Director Is One Of Best

WASHINGTON—Ever since the U.S. Information Agency was founded its director has been in hot water either with Congress, the newspaper profession, or the politicians—sometimes with all.

Bill Benton, the first director, did a brilliant job but had both Congress and the publishers seething with suspicion that he was going to encroach on the private news-gathering prerogative of the press.

Bob Johnson, a founder of Time Magazine and president of Temple University, was pilloried by Sen. Joe McCarthy as a moderate Eisenhower Republican.

Arthur Larson, the University of Pittsburgh professor who also served under Eisenhower, was castigated by the Democrats—among them Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas—for playing politics.

The late Edward R. Murrow was a brilliant, fearless commentator, but congressmen claimed he left the USIA in snarls of red tape.

Those who have studied the record of the USIA now say that the man who has done the best job of administering that important but controversial agency is a relatively obscure lawyer, Leonard Marks, now serving under Johnson.

And in these days when we tend to criticize our public servants, let's take a look at the operations of the USIA director.

First thing Marks did when he took over was to retain a management expert to see where the agency could save money. The expert's first recommendation was to combine the television division with the motion picture division, since both produced films. Marks acted immediately, thereby saving the taxpayers $1,500,000 annually.

The new USIA director also surveyed the use of his agency's telephones, found that some intercoms duplicated other intercoms. He cut his telephone service 35 per cent.

A lesser saving came from Marks's review of the magazines to which USIA subscribers for American libraries abroad. "Are you really using the different magazines you get?" he asked U.S. libraries. The survey cut magazine subscriptions by $14,000 a year.

The public doesn't know it, but USIA publishes 85 magazines of its own to tell the American story in Russia, Africa, the different countries of Asia. In a staff conference, one USIA staffer recommended that an American magazine published in Africa increase its circulation from 50,000 to 100,000.

"It now costs 41 cents a copy to print," shot back Marks. "How much will it cost if we increase the circulation to 100,000?"

Great Society Has Flat Wheel

WASHINGTON—An unusually heavy barrage of discontent is being aimed at Congress this week. The Capitol is swarming with lobbyists representing major elements of the consensus.

Home builders are protesting the tight money market. The Machinists' Union is demanding hands off the airline strike. Civil rights groups, split among themselves, converge on members with differing views on open housing and the demonstration-cities project.

Congress expects to be lobbied, but not quite so aggressively and from so many sides at the same time. Members are asking what it means in political terms, with the election only three months away.

The Great Society has obviously been losing momentum, and on many aspects of it the White House trumpet is giving forth an uncertain sound. The session has not yet produced one of the famous Johnson pressure drives in House and Senate, with their usual impressive results.

Civil rights is the most complex and troublesome issue as it moves inexorably forward into the area of economics. New patterns of social and political justice have been established, and legislative quarrels over voting rights steadily diminish.

But the Negro ghettos remain, and their angry and literally riotous demands for escape hatches continue. The President recognized them in his proposal for open housing, and, most imaginatively, in his bill to rebuild slums in a series of "demonstration cities." It is a fine phrase and was greeted with acclaim, but it could not cloak some harsh realities when the time came to put it into a form Congress and the public would approve.

The ghettos are vile and unproductive—"to be hated they need but to be seen." But there are a great many of them, the land on which they rest is expensive, and so is the proposed rebuilding. There are also a lot of cities and few want to be left out.

The President asked for a modest start—$2.3 billion to be distributed among 60 or more cities in six years. Liberals who liked the idea recognized that it was too small to represent a full-scale attack on the poverty cycle but large enough to enable the opposition to cry extravagance in the midst of a war.

That has happened. So has a predictable dissatisfaction among mayors competing for the money. They are also unhappy about a provision for help to "new towns" which mayors regard as only white ghettos added to the noose of white suburbs which ring most cities.

The pulling and hauling has frayed congressional tempers and no doubt Johnson's as well. Even members most friendly to the idea concede it will be difficult to get a reasonable, well-drafted solution through both houses of Congress by the adjournment target date of October 1.

By DON WALTON

Those farmers weren't at all hesitant about asking Orville Freeman questions at Columbus last weekend.

Everybody took his coat off and settled down to two hours of give and take.

When you encourage anonymous questioning by written card, you're bound to come up with most anything.

Like the query: "My son got drafted a year ago. Any chance of getting him out?"

Another questioner tried, in vain, to drag Freeman into Nebraska's weed control controversy, aiming his inquiry specifically at the musk thistle—which by now must be The State Weed.

Freeman's glowing report of progress in the agricultural economy over the past six years prompted one farmer to ask: "If prices are so good, do you know where I could rent another 160 acres?"

But another questioner pleased the shirt-sleeved secretary by asking: "Dear Orville. Do you remember when Senator Curtis stood on the White House steps and begged Eisenhower to fire Benson?"

Freeman's brief and grateful response: "It's kind of interesting to have your memory refreshed."

One questioner bugged Freeman about the uniformed city cops who stood by at the high school auditorium.

They weren't his idea, Freeman said.

"I don't need armed protection," he declared. "I brought no security. I'm not the least bit fearful."

Earlier, Freeman had told newsmen that he gives "very little consideration to my personal popularity. If I did, I wouldn't be secretary of agriculture."

Here's hoping Red China gets admitted to the United Nations soon.

Wouldn't it be far better to start talking to those guys now in the hope that we won't have to start shooting them in the near future?

Prolonged communication between the U.S. and the Soviet Union—plus that moment of terror over Cuba—has finally brought those two nations into an atmosphere of mutual understanding which has subtly altered our relationship from one of sworn bellicose enemies to spirited, although not trusting, competitors.

War with Russia is no longer regarded as inevitable—as it was not so many years ago. In fact, war with Russia now seems altogether unlikely.

Without communication between the U.S. and China, our relationship is likely to go from bad to worse—if that's possible.

When China is ready, it may mean war. And who in this country wants to continue shooting and bombing, and getting shot, in Asia forever?

We could still vote against Chinese admission to preserve our position that a nation which went to war against the United Nations in Korea should not be accepted as a member of that organization.

But let the rest of 'em vote China in, and then we can begin to find out whether we can all live together or not. Now, how'd we get on that touchy, emotional subject? Complaints may be addressed to the complaint editor.

Come on now. A ticket for leaving your keys in your car?

Justified, of course, on the shaky grounds that you make it easier for somebody to nab your car if you leave your keys in it. You're fined for tempting the other guy.

Next, no doubt: tickets for leaving any door unlocked at your home. . . tickets for carrying more than ten bucks in your billfold, or for looking like you might be carrying more than ten bucks in your billfold. . . tickets for girls for being pretty.

Finishing up:

—It's a winner, that Williams Cleaners billboard at 17th and L: "Williams wash and iron 8 million shirts a month. . . Would you believe 8,000?"

—How do you greet Ho Chi Minh?

—The Mormon influence in Salt Lake City apparently extends to its press. The Deseret News reported that Richard Speck's tattoo read "Born to Raise H—."

—Seven weeks from today, guys.

The Final Say

Hastings, Neb.

Senator Carl Curtis is running for his political life in the 1966 general election. He is trying to make farmers believe that they are in an awful plight, although farm land is selling at a higher price than at any time during a GOP administration.

The price of cattle is much better than during the administration of President Eisenhower, when cattle feeders sold fat cattle for $20, even though they had paid $34 for feeder cattle. Feeders reported they lost $150 per head on fat cattle. Senator Curtis should consider all this.

Furthermore, a greater number of Nebraskans own their homes now. Future generations of Americans will be erecting monuments to the memory of LBJ long after the name of Carl Curtis and other critics have passed into oblivion.

GOP leaders should never forget that President Truman's popularity as the 1948 Democratic presidential candidate was zero and yet he defeated the much vaunted GOP candidate, New York Governor Thomas Dewey.

There are millions of Americans who never saw a political popularity poll, and they are the voters who determine an election.

Perfect Laws

Lincoln, Neb.
Dr. Glen Bush, Nebraska Wesleyan sociologist, brought a breath of fresh air to the newly formed Great Plains Inter-Religious Commission when he raised the very important question of automation and its economic effect.

Many Christians assume that in the realization of Christian teaching, they need not strive for perfect civil, monetary and economic laws and that even if these were accomplished, we should need no compelling force to retain them. This is a fundamental error, as the teaching of St. Paul indicates. ("We know that the law is good, if a man use it lawfully.") The will of a Christian people, if in the majority in any state, must be enforced against the lawless and disobedient.

There can be no greater tyrannies than those imposed by political systems which lack perfect laws and which proclaim them in the name of liberty, freedom and equality. Under such systems, the righteous are in many respects made to suffer equally with the unrighteous. The freedom from oppression and tyranny is obtainable only with a system of perfect laws, which are to be found only within the law of righteousness.

Provided a man is obedient and righteous, he is not subject to civil law. From this we see that "the law is good if a man use it lawfully." Righteousness comes from above and we must build our lives, laws and political system up to it. God is the King of righteousness and He did not give His great moral and ethical laws without also providing us with all the principles of distributive justice necessary to realize them in fact.

We have also been given striking examples of the evils that befall men when they pursue their own evil ways.

Parking Meters

Lincoln, Neb.

The Star's first chapter (July 28) of the new front-page series, "Breaking the Law for Fun and Profit," is a literary success. Cheating at parking meters is something everyone should know. It's time we rebelled against the parking meters of Lincoln. And this is only the beginning.

I can't wait until the rest of the series comes out in later issues. I'm really looking forward to instructions on making a Molotov cocktail.

Lincoln is fast falling behind the rest of the nation in good old-fashioned fun. It's good to see that our city newspaper is always working hard to give our city new prestige, not to mention new ideas for summer fun.

'Virginia Woolf'

has decided that the movie, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" is smut. This movie was one of the most widely publicized movies in cinema history, if nothing else, to "warn" the public that it contains certain "shocking" words that exist in today's society.

If Mr. Brantz had read the many reports (not necessarily reviews) of the movie, he would have known that the movie would disgust him. He should not have gone. He made the decision to go, I assume. Therefore, he should not blame the movie. I think it is an important film and deserves the attention it is getting. It has more impact than going to a marriage counselor and is a heck of a lot cheaper!

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.
Another AFS year has come to a close and the success we had in sponsoring this fine experience in world friendship is due in large measure to the understanding and community acceptance of the project. We are indebted to The Star for the fine coverage of the many activities connected with AFS in Lincoln.

I know there are many now home with their families in their homes abroad who also join us in expressing thanks for the many courtesies and kindnesses they experienced as American Field Service students living, learning, and growing in a Lincoln home this year, as an outgrowth of the publicity and coverage given to AFS, thus building community acceptance of these AFS students.

Medicare Only Provides Semi-Private Rooms

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q. "I'm going to have a benign tumor removed next fall. Will Medicare give me a private room at the hospital? I don't want to be in a ward with a bunch of sick people."
A. Probably not. Medicare provides patients with semi-private accommodations with 2 to 4 beds in the room. A private room is covered only if doctors agree it is medically necessary. If a private room is available at the hospital, you can use it by paying the difference between the private and semi-private rate.

Q. "I'm past 65 and plan to cash in on Medicare by having my hernia fixed. The doctor says I'll be in the hospital 10 days. Will all my costs be covered?"
A. No. You'll have to pay the first $40 of your hospital bill, and you have to pay your doctor's fees for doing the surgery.
Q. "I've heard that when you're in the hospital under Medicare you still have to pay for such things as use of X-rays, blood tests and electrocardiograms. Is this true?"

A. No. All standard hospital services such as those you mention are covered and included in your benefits.
Q. "When I'm in the hospital under Medicare, will I have to pay extra every time a doctor sees me?"
A. No, you're entitled to the services of resident hospital physicians and interns. But if you use your own doctor, or if you need a specialist or surgeon, you'll have to pay the bill.

Q. "I thought Medicare covered everything, but now they tell me you need this supplementary health insurance plan, costing $3 monthly. If you want doctor bills covered?"
A. That's right. With the supplementary plan, you pay the first $50 of doctor bills each year, and thereafter the plan pays 80% of any subsequent bills for physicians' services.
Q. "I'm 75 and have never gotten anything free for all the taxes I've paid. What's to stop me from going to our local hospital and telling them I want to come in for a six-week Medicare vacation and be waited on hand and foot?"

A. It's a nice idea. But it won't work because you cannot be admitted to a hospital unless a physician determines that it is medically essential that you be hospitalized.
A. "I don't think much of doctors of medicine. Won't my health insurance under Medicare cover visits to my chiropractor and naturopathic physician?"

A. No, it covers only medical and surgical service performed by approved doctors of medicine.

Donovan Fined $700
London (UPI)—British pop singer "Donovan" was fined $700 for possessing drugs. The 20-year-old singer, who gave his full name as Donovan Philip Leitch, pleaded guilty.

Meet Star Carrier Dennis Rose

Dennis Rose, Star carrier of the week, is known in his McCook area as a prompt, efficient boy.
His customers say of him that they always know when to expect their papers and when he will collect for their subscriptions.
His customers appreciate his delivering the paper to the front step or inside the screen.
Dennis is an enthusiastic sports fan, participating actively in baseball, basketball, and track. As spectator sports he likes the same sports and football. He is especially interested in fishing.

Dennis' hobby is collecting bugs and insects.
His parents say of his Star route experience that it has made him more responsible and able to talk to people. Dennis himself agrees that it keeps him busy and gives him lots of responsibility. Through his route he has made a great number of friends, especially small children.
His supervisor comments, "Dennis is a fine boy and a hard worker."

Callan To Poll Jefferson County Residents On Park Idea

Rep. Clair Callan said Friday that he will send questionnaires to all residents of Jefferson County to determine whether they support his proposal for a grasslands national park in the county.

Callan said the questionnaires should be in the mail within the next week or 10 days.

Meanwhile, he said, he will arrange to meet personally with landowners who expressed opposition to the proposal at a meeting in Fairbury Thursday night.

"We'll Talk

"I am going to ask the leaders of this group to meet with me, and we'll talk this thing over," the First District congressman said.

"When I made this proposal, I expected that there would be some opposition. There always is opposition when you propose anything new."

One of the spokesmen for opponents of the proposal estimated tax losses from establishment of the park at $21,664 annually.

Callan said he would estimate that actual business and revenue stimulated by location of the park in Jefferson County "would probably be 10 times that amount."

Callan emphasized that the park is "just a proposal" and he is not yet certain whether the National Park Service would be interested in locating the facility in Jefferson County.

Officials of the park service will be brought to the county soon for a personal inspection, the congressman said.

Callan also noted that size of the proposed park remains flexible.

THERE'S

no such thing as a dull day in suburban news

Judging from their current week's activities, suburban residents seemed to have had the idea that the last week of July was the "lull before the storm" and that they had better take advantage of it. Perhaps a better comparison would be to liken this week to the eye of a hurricane. Most families are taking it easy, relaxing after June vacations, or gathering their energy for August festivities. You might think that the "storm" is over . . . but we are just in the middle, waiting for the second half to hit.

While nothing "unusual" may be taking place, Suburbia is a-buzz with everyday activities—for the children (and some of the "big kids" too!) there is the pool, for their parents, a refreshing glass of iced tea on the patio.

CASINO HEIGHTS

One couple decided to take advantage of the end-of-July lull, when everyone else was staying home. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Schoenfeld returned late on Thursday, July 21, from a relaxing week in the famous Black Hills of South Dakota. That following Saturday morning, they took a jaunt to Kansas City, Mo., and were accompanied by Mrs. Schoenfeld's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gerdes, who make their home in Malcolm. They visited with Mr. and Mrs. Gerdes' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Remmers.

MEADOW LANE

Nebraska must look small now to Kathy May, when it is compared with her new home state—Texas. She returned to Lincoln for a week's visit with Mrs. Bernice Ford and Rita who, probably, were eager to learn whether or not their guest had picked up a Texas drawl.

EASTRIDGE

Another displaced Lincolnite was back in town recently. Mr. and Mrs. LaVell K. Swarts now make their home in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, but Mrs. Swarts came back for a week's stay with her son, who is a University of Nebraska student.

Mrs. Swarts had all of the comforts of home while in Lincoln—even guests. Mrs. Chris Weisz, a San Francisco, Calif., resident, came to see her niece, and accompanying her was Mrs. Leo Kautzman, of Stanton. After a two-day stay, Mrs. Weisz went on to Kansas City to continue her round of visiting.

Mrs. Swarts no sooner said goodbye to her guests, than she packed up to go back to Oklahoma City.

Although you were probably unaware of it at the time, on Thursday five Trisolinis were in town, all five of them at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jack M. Knodle. This was actually quite an occasion, as Lincoln has no Trisolinis of its own.

If anyone had gone over to Meadowbrook and asked if there was a doctor in the house, two would have answered from the Knodle residence. Although Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Trisolini were only visiting, and were probably busy visiting with Mrs.

Trisolini's sister and brother-in-law, as well as keeping track of three little Trisolinis, we're sure that the good doctor would have come to the aid of anyone in distress.

Dr. and Mrs. Trisolini, who make their home in Akron, Ohio, planned to go on to Denver and Seattle after a few days in Lincoln.

But now the news of once-upon-a-time Lincoln residents returning to their former home goes into reverse. There are two families leaving—just to even things up, perhaps. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Larson will be making their home in Western Spring, Ill., and Rhode Island will be the future home of the family of Maj. and Mrs. Norman McQuillen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Deeds told us of the departure of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Deeds, for a three week California visit on Tuesday.

They plan to stay with a former Deeds and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Mieser, who make their home in Berkeley.

PARK MANOR

Travelers from Topeka, Kan., and Rising City were welcomed last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Brown. The guests from Topeka, were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Brown. And the Rising City contingent was composed of the young Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Haney.

AN evening ceremony

The marriage of Miss Marcia Lee Devere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice G. Devere, to Gary L. Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Flynn, took place at a candlelight ceremony on Friday evening, July 29, at the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Cathedral candles in branched candelabra, and arrangements of white chrysanthemums formed the background for the 8 o'clock service which was solemnized by the Rev. Kenneth C. Stewart. Harrison Kelton played the wedding music.

Miss Maureen Devere was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Miss Kathleen Bals of Crete. The attendants appeared in alike frocks fashioned with white cluny lace bodices and long, powder blue skirts. Their brief veils were caught with pearl-accented braided circlets of net, and they carried cascade bouquets of roses.

Dennis Lopic served as best man, and seating the guests were Robert Byers of Waverly, and Richard Devere, Thomas Morrissey Jr., was the groomsmen.

Chantilly lace and silk bombazine fashioned the gown chosen by the bride. The long-sleeved basque bodice, designed with a sabrina neckline, was fashioned of lace which was repeated in an applique motif on the bouffant bombazine skirt. The gown was completed with a court train, ornamented with a shoulder bow, which was cathedral length. A crown of jeweled lace flowers held in place her tiered veil of illusion, and she carried a miniature cascade of minute carnations on a lace-covered Bible.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip, Mr. Flynn and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

If you never have been simply corroded with envy you will be — when we tell you what is happening to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cypher and their son, Tom — The three Cyphers will be leaving Lincoln early in the autumn for Northern Ireland — Belfast, perhaps — or close by.

Mr. Cypher, who is with the Goodyear Company, is to head the plant now under construction in Ireland which, for all practical purposes will be the permanent address of the Cypher family for some time to come.

We hear that the flags were flying at the Michael Lawlor home last week — At least Mr. Lawlor hoisted one flag — a pink diaper — on a flag pole. This was to let all who were interested know that Miss Ann Elizabeth Lawlor had arrived. The young lady made her world debut at Lincoln General Hospital on Wednesday, July 20. We're guessing that Miss Ann Elizabeth never will lack for protection — She has five brothers.

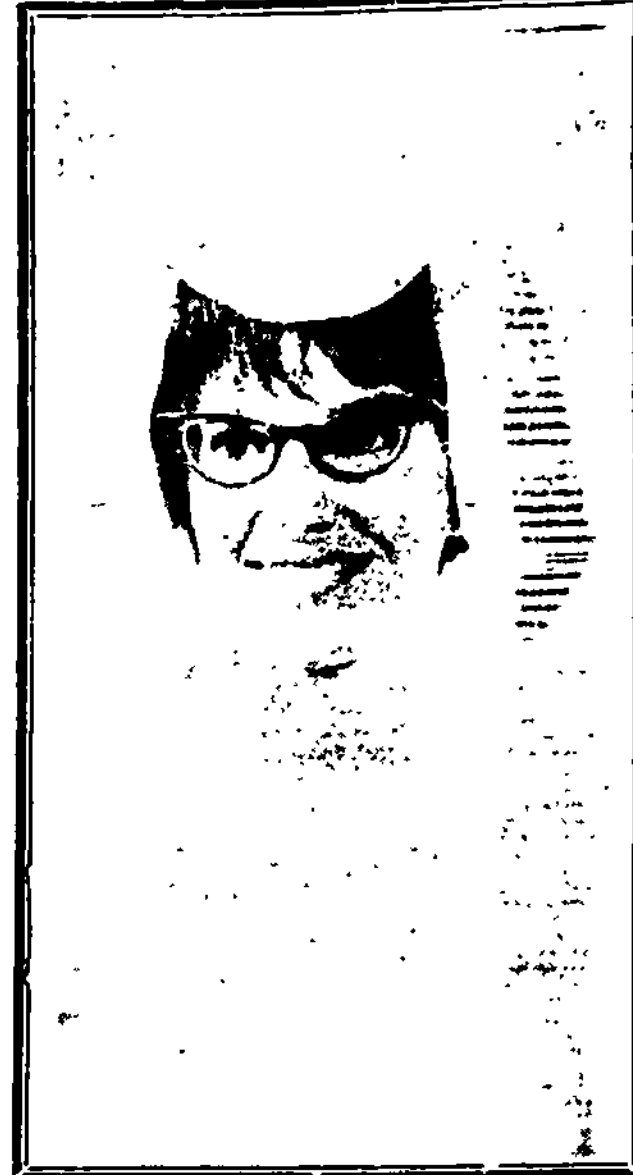

There is more news in the nursery crowd this morning, too — This time it involves the very young and petite Miss Jessica Margaret Bowski who arrived on Friday, July 29, at Lincoln General Hospital. The baby has an older sister — Monica Ann.

Visited briefly yesterday with a visitor from California, Arthur Gadd of Bell, Calif., formerly of Lincoln. Mr. Gadd has been spending the past two months as the guest of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Anderson and plans to return to the west coast in September.

In the meantime Mr. Gadd will be celebrating a birthday anniversary — his 95th — on Aug. 15.

But as far as Mr. Gadd is concerned he is celebrating this weekend because arriving from Omaha today will be his two great-grandsons, Stephen and David Anderson. We might add that the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Anderson also will be here for a weekend visit.

And leaving today to return to their home in Denver will be Dr. and Mrs. Robert Volz and three of their four children — Tommy, Amy and John, who have been spending a week as the guests of Dr. Volz' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Volz. The fourth member of the younger generation is young Miss Volz who will remain as the guest of her grandparents for a week or two — or three.

FORMER coed a Friday bride

Arrangements of pink gladioli and purple asters appointed the chancel of the Fifth Reformed Church where the wedding of Miss Lynnette Paschold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Paschold of Firth, and Merle D. Verhoeff, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Verhoeff of Hickman, took place on Friday evening, July 29. The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Norman Menning, and Mrs. Delmer Doe-schot played the wedding music. Mrs. Larry DeBoer was the vocal soloist.

The three attendants, maid of honor, Miss Elaine Avery of Humboldt, and bridesmaids Miss Eileen McGill of Omaha, and Miss Sheryl Kraatz of Lincoln, wore identically styled frocks of peau de soie fashioned with matching lace overblouses. Miss Avery appeared in the fiesta pink shade, and the maids were in seafoam blue.

Clyde Verhoeff of Hickman served as best man, and the ushers were Lester Barde of Beatrice; Dale Verhoeff of Hickman; Richard Essink and Lawrence Paschold.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white satin over which was worn a long-sleeved overblouse of lace. The sheath skirt of satin was given back interest with a train that extended into cathedral length. A large fabric rose ornamented with lace and pearls held in place her bouffant veil, and she carried a nosegay of pink roses, centered with a white orchid, on a white Bible.

So--No Dates

You say you're 22, fairly attractive but haven't had a date in months? Cheer up, lady. It's not you—it's good old Uncle Sam, says Mary Louise Cates of UPI.

The latest census shows there are 6.59 million males between the ages of 19 and 24, presumably just looking for someone to date.

And, nicely enough, there are just over 6.5 million females in the same age bracket, presumably just waiting to be taken to dinner, dancing or just to the neighborhood movies.

Now the rub.

Over 3 million men are now wearing the uniform of one or another service. Defense officials estimate that more than 60% of these fellows are under 25. That's where 1.8 million of those prospective dinner and engagement ring buyers are going, my dear, right into the service.

So there you sit, in somewhat the same predicament as the Hollywood lovelies on the late, late show. Their problem allegedly was more severe, since four times as many eligible males were serving Uncle Sam. But maybe their solutions will work for the datable femme of the sixties.

First, there's the Judy Garland method, as illustrated in "The Clock." That's the opus where she meets Robert Walker in a crowded train station and gets married, lickety-split.

Now you don't have to go that far, but you could pick up some pointers.

Frequent crowded places, looking helpless. Bump into eligible males (gently now, you're not trying to crash the Notre Dame line) and smile a lot as if you were ready to burst into a song about a rainbow.

You don't think you're the Garland type, eh? Well what about Vivian Leigh. She worked out a neat little system in "Waterloo Bridge."

Following her lead, if you've got a handy span just mosey over some foggy night. Then, when a Robert Taylor wanders by, look depressed, look very depressed.

Of course, Vivian didn't make it to the last reel in that war saga, but you might be more lucky — unless you pick up a hefty case of pneumonia wandering around in all that cold night air.

Jennifer Jones did make it to the last scene in "Since You Went Away." The method there was easy enough. Get your mother to rent a room to a nice old General resembling Monty Wooley. Then grab his almost disowned grandson and head for the country, where you can really find out what a nice boy he is, just like Robert Walker.

Well, for what they're worth, those are some of the Hollywood methods of beating Uncle Sam's grabbliness.

Not that I have any lack of faith in them, but if you come up with better ideas, let me in on them. Just for theoretical purposes, naturally.

ABBY

hard facts may answer question

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why does a psychoanalyst charge so much? The cheapest one I have been able to find costs $25 an hour. I certainly can't afford that. Am I supposed to postpone my nervous breakdown until I can pay for it?

I can't understand why doctors dedicate themselves to curing the sick mind and then set their rates so high that few people can afford them.

NEEDS TREATMENT
DEAR NEEDS: A psychoanalyst must have four years of college, four years of medical school, one year of internship, and three years of residency in a psychiatric hospital. Then he, himself, must submit to psychoanalysis which requires four one-hour sessions a week (at $25 an hour) for three or four years.

In addition, he takes four years of lectures and seminars which cost him a bout $4,800, plus another 200 hours of supervision from a training analyst at $25 an hour.

By the time he is ready to hang out his shingle, he has spent $50,000 on his education and is 35 years old. Does that answer your question?

DEAR ABBY: It came to my attention that my new daughter-in-law resents my referring to her as "George's wife" or "pry daughter-in-law." I don't dislike her, actually, but she is George's fourth wife in nine years and I can't always remember the name of his current wife on a moment's notice.

George divorced his first wife (Margaret) to marry a girl named Charlotte, and for the longest time I kept calling Charlotte "Margaret." Then he divorced Charlotte to marry Cynthia, and I had the same trouble. I kept calling Cynthia, "Charlotte." Now he has taken another wife and I am not taking any chances. Should I explain this to her?

CAREFUL IN TORONTO
DEAR CAREFUL: Don't explain. With George's record for changing wives, it hardly pays to tax your memory with their names. George could eventually take the fifth.

DEAR ABBY: As you know, bachelors who have money are reluctant to get married these days because they fear that if the marriage doesn't work out, it may cost them a great portion of their material wealth. One cannot blame them with the present divorce rate.

Can a woman tell a man that she would be willing to sign a legal paper saying she will make no claim on his money or property if the marriage ends in divorce? What better way can she prove to him that she loves him for himself, and himself alone? Or should she just go ahead and have the papers drawn up and present them to him?

WILLING TO SIGN
DEAR WILLING: I advise you not to have any such papers drawn up. Most bachelors with "material wealth" are well aware of how to protect themselves against designing females. (That's probably why they're still bachelors.) Wait until he proposes. HE may present YOU with the papers.

CONFIDENTIAL
TO "HAD IT": Do not tell your husband's boss. But tell your husband you are thinking about telling his boss. The results will be the same.

Opening lead-nine of hearts.

This hand occurred in a duplicate pair game. The contract was usually four hearts played by South, and in every case except one the declarer made either ten or eleven tricks, depending on whether he decided to play East or West for the queen of clubs.

But at one table South went down one in four hearts as the result of rather unusual defense. Most of the West players selected the king of diamonds as the opening lead against four hearts, but the West at this table hit upon the nine of hearts for his opening lead.

This odd choice created a problem in trumps for the declarer which did not exist at other tables. He covered the nine with the ten and won the queen with the ace. He then played the A-10 of diamonds and ruffed the diamond return.

Declarer next played a spade to the queen and returned a low trump from dummy. When East followed with the three, South finessed on the assumption that East had started with the Q-J-3. As a result, he lost a trump trick to the jack.

Had West not led a trump originally, South would have had no chance to go wrong and he would have avoided a trump loser by simply cashing the A-K.

Upon winning the trump trick with the jack, West cashed the ace of spades, sparing South's king. West then made the excellent play of another spade, deliberately giving South a ruff in one hand and a discard in the other.

West, who could count declarer for 2-5-2-4 distribution knew that the ruff-discard could not possibly help South. Declarer ruffed and still had to guess the location of the queen of clubs, and it turned out that he was not equal to the task. He decided to play West for the queen, and when East showed up with the missing damsel, he wound up going down one.

Bridal Attendants

This morning Miss Georganne Cunningham, whose marriage to Dean E. Hyde is planned for Aug. 20, makes announcement of the bridal attendants.

For her maid of honor Miss Cunningham has chosen her sister, Miss Shirley Nord. Her bridesmaid will be Miss Jeanie Christensen of Valparaiso, and the two bridesmaids will be Mrs. Dennis Sieford, and Mrs. Delwood Anderson of Omaha. Miss Jane Shipman and Mrs. Duane Kempkes will light the candles.

Clinton Hyde will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Terry Girardot, Richard Bringelson, Joe Pease and Thomas Hyde.

Another of the late summer brides is Miss Frances Warnholz who has chosen Aug. 21, as the date of her marriage to Michael Barton.

Miss Claudia Ostwinkle will be Miss Warnholz' maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Cindy Sitorius of Cozad; Miss Nancy Loutzenheiser of North Platte, and Miss Sally Spohn.

Denny Barton of Milwaukee, Wis., will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be James Jackson, Walt Warnholz, and James Little of Kansas City, Kan.

BRIDE on Friday evening

At a 7:30 o'clock service on Friday evening, July 29, the marriage of Miss Janie Sue Stiegelmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Stiegelmeier of Hickman, to John C. Schrader, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Schrader of Roca, took place at the United Presbyterian Church in Hickman. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. James Lyons before a background of pink roses and white carnations, and Mrs. Harley Scott played the wedding music. The soloists were Mrs. Naomi Schwaninger, violinist, and Mrs. Gary Bentzinger, vocalist.

Miss Pat Bentzinger of Martell, as the maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Jacqueline Riley and Miss Ruth Stahly, wore alike floor-length frocks of pink dotted swiss touched with lace. Their bouquets were fashioned of pink roses and white carnations.

Darrell Schrader of Roca served as best man, and the ushers included Ron League of Martell; Daniel Schrader of Gretna; Charles Vorhees of Lincoln, and Delbert Schrader of Roca.

The bride appeared in a gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. The lace fashioned the long-sleeved bodice, designed with a sabrina neckline, patterned with iridescents and pearls, and was repeated to band the bouffant skirt of organza and the court train which extended from the shoulders to cotillion length. A crown of sequins and pearls held to the head her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. Schrader and his bride will reside in Hickman. The bridegroom is attending the University of Nebraska.

Reception Held

In-courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Terry L. Anderson whose marriage took place in North Sioux City, S.D., on Friday, July 15, Mr. and Mrs. John Wright were host and hostess at a reception at their home on Saturday, July 24.

Mrs. Anderson is the former Barbara Langville, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Fred Langville of Omaha, and is a former student at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Anderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Anderson of Cleveland, O., also attended the University of Nebraska.

WHY GROW OLD?

Q. I have heard of plastic surgery to increase the flat bust. Do you know of this procedure? Is exercise preferable? How do I locate a doctor who does this? I have a nice figure, except for a very small bust.

A. Some plastic surgeons perform this operation. Ask your doctor to locate one who is well-qualified or call your local county medical association. Then discuss this with the plastic surgeon. Exercise can't increase the size of the bust itself, but it can make the bustline more prominent by enlarging the underlying chest muscles. A gain of weight will increase the size of the bust.

Here's an exercise to try which may help you. Stand tall with your arms at your sides. Raise your arms side-ward, shoulder height, palms facing the floor. Keep your elbows stiff as you make circles with your arms, always circling forward. Keep your back straight and your chest up while you do this.

Q. I have a problem and would appreciate it very much if you could help me. When I laugh, I get wrinkles around my mouth. They last for a long time afterwards. I am 15 years old.

A. Don't stop laughing. At 15 the wrinkles can't be very bad. Of course, if you actually grimace when you laugh, you should stop that.

What does one do for an encore after giving Nebraska fans their first undefeated football season in 50 years? Husker coach Bob Devaney admits it's a tough assignment.

"We're not going to be able to improve over last year from a record standpoint," Devaney says in the NU football brochure released Friday by sports information director Don Bryant. "because we still play only 10 games."

"So theoretically, if we are to show improvement we must do things better than we did last year."

Other than the fact that Devaney finds it hard to figure on improving on a 10-0 season when you only play 10 games, there is another problem—the quality of the opposition.

"We will find doing anything better much more difficult because our opponents are going to be much tougher," Devaney continues. "We could be improved in some areas, but we definitely will not be as strong in pass receiving, and our degree of improvement probably will not match the degree of improvement of our opponents."

"We hope to have a successful season, and we hope we play well at all times. But our efforts may be overshadowed by the improved play of our opponents."

"I look for the Big Eight race to be the closest in years with as many as five or six teams in the title picture — Colorado looks great, Missouri always is an outstanding team, Oklahoma has some fine players and new coach generating enthusiasm, Oklahoma State has given us fits and is in a challenging position and Iowa State could have a whale of a year with that Van Galder boy at quarterback."

"Add to that the fact that Kansas and Kansas State will be much improved, physically, and it's easy to see what a chore we are facing if we are to retain our title."

And Devaney doesn't see the non-conference schedule as an easy hurdle to get over.

"In non-conference play, Texas Christian expects to have an outstanding team after a fine 1965 campaign with young players," the NU coach points out. "Utah State always has a fine club and will give us a thorough test."

"Wisconsin will be a much better team than the one we faced in 1965 — and we have to play the Badgers at Madison."

"We are not minimizing our personnel when we say Nebraska will face tougher opposition in 1966 than it did in 1965, and that our players will have to exert great effort in order for us to have an opportunity to successfully defend the Big Eight championship."

Writing the Cornhusker outlook, Bryant tabs the offensive end spots as the biggest problem.

"Spring drills failed to turn up any newcomers who could erase memories of the All-American duo of Tony Jeeter and Freeman White. Bryant writes in the brochure. "There's still a possibility ace fullback Pete Tatman may log some light end time. If someone doesn't declare with gusto, but it would be a reluctant switch because of Pete's stature as an outstanding fullback."

The Huskers' main strength figures to be in the backfield.

"Nebraska's strength probably will lie with Churchich, one of the outstanding quarterbacks in the nation, and a crew of big, hard-running backs like Kirkland, Winters, Wilson and Tatman, who enabled NU to lead the nation in offensive rushing in 1965," Bryant says.

"If Nebraska can solve its offensive end problems, replace offensive tackles Jim Brown and Dennis Carlson, and play with dedication of Bob Devaney teams the past four years — well, the Cornhuskers could be championship caliber," the brochure concludes.

Shrine Profiles

RANDY FLANNIGAN

Backfield candidate Randy Flannigan is Grand Island Central Catholic's first representative in a Shrine Bowl football game.

He'll be playing with the North team in the Aug. 20 contest.

Born in Flannigan O'Neill, the 6-0, 190-pound performer lettered in football and track at Central Catholic.

An all-conference and all-state choice, he favored biology in the classroom.

The Grand Island youngster is anticipating a career in coaching.

DOUG CAMPBELL

With Paul Topfiff declared out with a broken wrist, Doug Campbell is Lincoln Northeast's only representative in the 1966 Shrine Bowl football game.

The 5-6, 170-pound half-back will be playing for the South team in the Aug. 20 contest.

A versatile athlete, he Campbell earned letters in football, gymnastics and track in his high school career.

He lists hunting and canoe racing as his hobbies.

Chemistry was the favorite high school subject for Doug, who is looking forward to a career as an optometrist.

Ex-Husker Ross Put On Waivers By Buffalo Bills

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP)—Halfback Willie Ross, two-year veteran with the Buffalo Bills, was placed on waivers Friday by the American Football League champions.

"We looked into the future and decided Willie didn't have much of a chance to make our club," Coach Joel Collier said. "So we let him go now when he still can get another job."

Ross, 25, of Chicago, is an outside speed-runner who played college football at Nebraska.

Swimming Moores In Lincoln

Two swimmers, who will be performing at Lincoln's Woods Pool in the National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships Aug. 18-21, are hoping to make this meet just one of their stops in a swimming trail that started with irrigation canals and which they hope will lead to the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

Kendis and Kerry Moore, members of the Arizona Desert Rats team that will compete in the national AAU meet, got their start in swimming because they lived on a ranch near Stansfield, Ariz., with irrigation ditches and canals nearby.

When their parents, Ken and Betty Moore, became concerned lest one of their four children fall into one of these ditches without being able to swim, they then began driving the four children 30 miles away to Casa Grande for swimming lessons.

This strange beginning has led to numerous swimming records for Kendis and Kerry.

Kendis has set national championship records in the 200-meter butterfly at 2:26.3; the 100-meter butterfly at 1:07.0, the 100-meter backstroke at 1:11.0 and 200-meter backstroke at 2:34.4.

Kerry was the No. 1 swimmer in the U.S. last year in 13-14 age group for the 100-meter butterfly, and the 200-meter butterfly.

Detroit Holdout Studstill Signs; Rookie Claimed

Detroit (AP)—The Detroit Lions announced Friday the signing of holdout flankerback Pat Studstill and the claiming of waivers of Rookie Joe Wellborn from the New York Giants.

Studstill walked out of the Lions training camp at Cranbrook Academy last Monday but showed up for practice Friday and signed his contract.

A salary dispute was believed to be the reason for Studstill's holdout.

Top City Hopefuls In Governor's Golf

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Most of Lincoln's top golfers, who will be competing next week for the Lincoln City Championship, are in the field of 188 who began teeing off at 5:30 this morning at Pioneer's Park in the second annual Governor's Sweepstakes.

The two golfers, who have won the last four city championships, Matt Taber and Charlie Borner, are in the same foursome, teeing off at 10:54 this morning.

Taber, a three-time city champion and winner of the last two will be trying to retire the traveling trophy next week in the city meet.

Borner, who is defending champion in the Governor's Sweepstakes, having won a playoff a year ago on the first extra hole, is the only golfer who has broken Taber's reign over Capital City golf the past four years.

The 19-year-old University of Nebraska junior won the Lincoln crown in 1963. Also in the foursome with Taber and Borner is another strong contender for the city championship, Nick West, who teamed with Chuck Sweetman to win the Great Plains Classic, a two-man best-ball affair held earlier this summer at Holmes Park.

Both the Great Plains Classic and the Governor's Sweepstakes are sponsored by the Lincoln Municipal Golfers' Association.

Another strong Lincoln challenger for the 45-hole Sweepstakes title is Larry Romjue, who played three good rounds of golf in the Nebraska State Men's Amateur a week ago at Hastings.

Top non-Lincoln threats are Dave Franklin of Fremont, Dean Wilson Jr., and Bob Mitera, both of Omaha.

The entry list also includes such dignitaries as Lt. Gov. Phil Sorenson and Lincoln Mayor Dean Petersen.

Saturday's 18 holes at Pioneer's will be used to divide players into flights for Sunday's play at Holmes Park. The championship flight will go 27 holes Sunday with other flights playing 18.

A banquet is slated tonight at East Hills Supper Club and Gov. Morrison will be on hand Sunday evening at Holmes to present the trophies.

Champ Dixie Sloshes To Victory

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Champ Dixie gained the lead in the drive and held off Conga Ruler at the wire to win the featured Grand Island Purse by three-quarters of a length on a muddy State Fairgrounds track Friday.

It's not in their contracts, but some of the jockeys had to hold on like rodeo performers to keep from landing in the mucky sea of puddles but a couple of them went down, anyway.

Another pair of jockeys did all right for themselves with two wins each. Ronnie Alexander turned in a double for the second time in three days and Fred Ecofey closed to within eight points of leading rider Don Stauffer, 147-139, with two victories and a pair of second-place finishes.

In the feature attraction, Admiral B. and Little G. ap guided as one horse through almost the entire backstretch and far turn before yielding to another duo. Champ Dixie was third, just off the leaders, and Conga Ruler fourth, four lengths further back, heading for the thrilling stretch battle.

The first race provided the day's biggest payoff, with One Cooky taking a photo decision from Pillsa for an $18.40 prize. One Cooky gained the lead in the stretch and out-ran fast-closing Pillsa as pacesetter Service's Image in a game hung in the final sixteenth. One Cooky was booked at 8-1.

Moonlight was bumped in the first turn and jockey Larry Rettele saw his red uniform turn to black very quickly but got out of the spill all right.

Night's Delight started going in the backstretch, went to the front in the stretch and won a 1 1/4-length victory to clean up a 7-9 combination for $82.60 on the daily double. Jewelema won the day's second photo victory, overtaking Noir Band in the stretch after coming from third place, three lengths back, coming out of the far turn. Priory School was the only winning horse who rated as a good mud runner, disregarding the 6-1 odds against him to beat Angle Eye's by a length in the eighth race and pay off $15 even, second-best for the day.

Dundy County won by two lengths in the fifth race for his second straight victory. Myrtle Red gained the lead between calls in the stretch.

Just before the fifth race got started, Rolling Zek bounced another Rettele brother, Jerry, into the mud-bath and was scratched, all money on him being refunded. Jerry likewise was unhurt.

Rose O'Mahmoud reached the front on the turn and came hard down the stretch to win by a length in the fourth heat, while the third race went to Pots Lag by four lengths.

Another horseman, Tom Skodin, had to do some fancy climbing to stay on top of Gany Choice on the first turn in the third race. As it is, five riders have come unseated the last three days.

Mick Passes Gehrig On All-Time NY List

... YANKS WIN, 2-1

Chicago (AP)—Mickey Mantle hit his 21st home run of the season Friday night to become the second greatest home run hitter in Yankee history and led New York to a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Mantle's 494th homer snapped a scoreless tie with one out in the fourth inning. The clout into the second deck lifted Mantle past Lou Gehrig who had a career mark of 493. The blow also put Mantle in sixth place among baseball's all-time homer leaders.

Following Mantle's homer, the Yankees loaded the bases on a walk and singles by Tom Tresh and Roger Maris before Elston Howard drew a walk, forcing in another run.

Al Downing blanked the White Sox until the eighth

Three Lincoln Divers Competing At Kearney

Kearney — Three members of the Lincoln Swim Club will be competing in the Midwest AAU Age Group Diving Championships at Kearney State College here today.

The Lincolnites and their events: Tom Houtchens, boys 15-17 one and three-meter diving; Laura Hammang, girls 15-17 one and three-meter diving; and Marsha Joyner, girls 15-17 one-meter diving. Competition begins at 2 p.m. at the Kearney State College pool.

when they scored on singles by Pete Ward and Bill Skowron plus Jerry Adair's ground out.

Hal Remiff then relieved Downing in the ninth and got Ken Berry to ground into a game-ending double play.

Pirates Whip Phils On Pagan's Double

... BUCS WIN, 5-3

Pittsburgh (M—Jose Pagan's two-out, three-run double climaxed a four-run rally in the eighth inning that shot the National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates past Philadelphia, 5-3, Friday night.

Cincy Down
Astros, 4-3

Gene Michael, Manny Mota and Gene Alley singled for one run, cutting the Phillies' lead to 3-2.

Roberto Clemente forced Alley at second, but Short walked Donn Clendenon, loading the bases. Pagan then came up and drilled a double to left-center field, clearing

The Phillies got all of their runs in the third inning when

The Pirates had taken a 1-0 lead in the second on a walk by Edgar and Jim Bevilacqua.

Market Slumps To New Low

New York (AP) — The stock market Friday slumped to new lows for 1966 even as airlines rallied on the news that President Johnson had intervened personally to seek an end to the airline strike.

Volume was 3.16 million shares compared with 5.69 million Thursday and was the smallest since July 18 when 5.12 million shares changed hands.

The market was a bit higher on average in the morning when airlines were putting on a show of strength amid hopes that Johnson's intervention would bring a settlement. However, other stocks showed no enthusiasm in following the airlines.

As the rest of the list lagged far behind the surging airline stocks a miasma of disappointment spread through Wall Street.

The result was an increasing weakness among blue chips even as airlines put on

Grain Marketing Improves Steadily

Chicago (AP) — Buying of grain futures improved steadily Friday after an early period of weakness and all commodities finished steady to firm.

For wheat and rye it was the third consecutive advance and the fourth in five days this week. However, it still did not recover all the losses in the broad setbacks of Tuesday.

Corn, oats and new crop soybeans added only fractions, mostly in the minor range. However, both corn and soybeans were up well over 2 cents in spots from their lows of the day.

At the close, wheat was 1/2 to 1 cent higher than Friday's close, corn 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, and rye 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher.

The Way Grows Much Brighter

When God Gives Us Our Marching Orders

DESPONDENT

— life savings are gone. Physical comfort for these two, during old age, went out with the trash can. Disillusionment reigns here. These harried, cross, impatient faces reveal the pang of personal loss. It would be well for this household, as well as yours, to realize how futile things of the world really are compared to the things of God. When crisis like this tear at your very soul,— when your nerves are worn from daily reversals,— when tragedy all but overwhelms you,— do you ever stop to experience the Comfort of Divine Presence? Try going to church for a cure. You'll take on a different outlook. Money, and lands, and oil wells will pass away but the things of God are Eternal.
